Guidelines for Off-Highway Vehicle Clubs

Why Start an Off-Highway Vehicle Club?

Do you want to share your interest in off-highway vehicle (OHV) recreation with others in your community? Have you recently lost an OHV recreation area, or had a favorite trail closed to motorized vehicles? Would you like new friends to ride or drive with? If so, you may want to consider forming an OHV club.

A club can accomplish things that are difficult for one or just a few individuals to accomplish.

A club can speak with one voice for a larger group, increasing their effectiveness when working with elected officials and land managers. Local presence and knowledge of specific areas and situations allow for credible and constructive comments on land management issues and legislation.

Elected officials and local units of government listen to their constituents. The more constituents an organization represents the closer elected officials listen.

Clubs also serve as a contact point for land managers, elected officials, the media, other organizations and OHV-oriented businesses needing local information or having important information to share.

A club's standing in the community is vitally important and depends largely upon the conduct of its members and club activities.

A club can promote responsible outdoor ethics and safety to improve both opportunity and the image of OHV activity. The better educated the OHV public is about rules, regulation, natural and cultural resources, land ethics, and safe operation of their vehicles the better we will be perceived.

Peer pressure within and outside of the club can be a powerful influence on the conduct of other OHV enthusiasts.

The image of OHV recreation is further enhanced by community service and charity efforts. A club can sponsor volunteer activities that benefit good causes and provide desirable services to the community. Respect within the community and personal satisfaction are natural returns from coordinating or participating in:

- Trail maintenance,
- Clean-up days,
- Safety training,
- Search and Rescue programs,
- Volunteer trail patrol and trail host programs,
- Youth and at-risk youth diversion programs, and
- Charity fund raising activities.

Group discounts at local dealerships, accessory shops, other businesses and attractions are often available to club members. The same business interests may also be willing to support the club or club activities by purchasing ads in newsletters, paying for their name to be included on activity flyers and event t-shirts, providing discount coupons for event participants, providing in-kind donations such as printing, equipment or food items, and offering prizes.

And, best of all, a club provides camaraderie and fun through excursions, family events, and other activities.

NOHVCC “TOOLS” TO ASSIST YOU

The National Off-Highway Vehicle Conservation Council is an educational nonprofit organization with a unique countrywide network of volunteers assisted by a professional staff. NOHVCC is not a membership-based organization (in other words, you can’t “join” NOHVCC.)

The purpose of NOHVCC is to create a positive future for off-highway vehicle recreation by providing to those seeking assistance a wide range of resources to enhance communication forums, responsible riding and driving opportunities, the positive image of OHV recreation, environmental stewardship, and safety education.

NOHVCC encourages enthusiasts to organize into clubs and work with their state organizations. Where no state OHV organization exists clubs are further encouraged to form state associations promoting the NOHVCC mission of “creating a positive future for off-highway vehicle recreation.” In return NOHVCC provides information and materials, or “tools”, to assist club and association development.

NOHVCC recognizes that most OHV activists are volunteers with many demands on their time. NOHVCC group development materials provide information and samples to help you build your organizational and collaborative skills, make the most efficient and effective use of your time, and still have time left over for fun.

NOHVCC “Tools” in addition to Guidelines for Off-Highway Vehicle Clubs include:

- Advice from the NOHVCC professional staff,
- Advice from NOHVCC advisors including land managers and business professionals;
- Advice from your NOHVCC State Representative and Alternate;
- NOHVCC web information including an extensive resource library;
- Referrals to other clubs and associations in your state and across the country.

Now, if you’re ready and willing to form an OHV club, turn the page.

STEP-BY-STEP GUIDELINES FOR CLUB DEVELOPMENT

Advance preparation and good meeting management is critical. What attendees walk away from a meeting with will determine whether or not they return for another! The following five steps will guide you through any meeting from your initial club formation meeting, to special planning meetings, and to monthly membership meetings ten years from now.

1. THE MEETING SITE

- For all meetings select a location that is as central as possible for the participants who you want and who need to attend.
- Be sure that there is adequate space for the number of participants you have invited or that you expect to attend. For your first meeting this may be difficult to determine, but it is better to have an area that is too large rather than too small. At the initial club formation meeting for the New York Trail Riders Organization (NYTRO) 200 riders showed up and 172 signed up as members.
- The meeting area should have enough tables adequate for the work you will be doing. A general membership meeting may only require table space for officers and handouts. While a planning meeting where you will be looking at maps or reviewing documents will require lots of table space.
- Make sure that chairs are comfortable for the length of the meeting. Folding chairs or benches are fine for a short meeting but are torture after any more than two hours.
- Select a site where you are allowed to post material on the wall. (Bring lots of good masking tape – NO scotch tape, duct tapes or electrical tape!) Being able to stick things on the wall such as officer nominations, ideas, maps, etc., is very helpful at initial development and planning meetings.

- Select a site where you may provide beverages and snacks or where food can be ordered. Food is important! Food creates a relaxed atmosphere and helps keep energy levels up.
- Potential Meeting Sites:
 - Community centers and service halls (VFW, Rotary, etc.)
 - Local libraries, schools, and colleges
 - Local businesses and land management offices
 - Quiet restaurants with separate meeting rooms
 - Members homes – if sufficient quiet space is available
- Caution: Pizza parlors and bars are popular meeting places but generally are too noisy to conduct efficient business meetings. If you must consider a restaurant as a meeting site make sure that where you will meet is:
 - Available for the entire duration of the meeting,
 - That the meeting will not disturb other customers, and
 - That other customers will not disturb you, and
 - Establish a ground rule that if meeting participants would like to drink, all business must be completed before alcoholic beverages are served.

2. COMMUNICATION

From when you first think to yourself, I'd like to form a club to regular club operations forever after, good communication is essential to keep a club active and growing.

- The First Meeting: After the date, time and location of the first meeting is set you will need to create an announcement to distribute as widely as possible at least one month in advance of the meeting date. Potential venues for distribution may include local newspapers and radio stations, OHV businesses and land management offices.

Distribute the announcement by mail, fax and email to as many friends, business associates and organizations that you believe may be interested in joining or supporting the new club. Redistribute the announcement with a draft agenda two weeks in advance of the meeting.

- General and Special Meeting Notices: People are busy. Advance meeting notices and reminders are helpful for even the most active and conscientious club members. Repeated notice is critical for special meetings and for members who may not have been able to attend the previous meeting.
 - The dates for next meetings should be decided upon at each meeting.
 - Notice of all meetings should be distributed one month prior to the meeting date. Notices should include:
 - Date and time
 - Location
 - Primary purpose of the meeting
 - The Action Table

- Reminders should be sent seven to ten days prior to the meeting.

Reminders should include:

- Date and time
 - Location
 - Draft agenda
 - The Action Table
 - List of invited guests or special speakers
 - List of items, if necessary, that members need to bring to the meeting
- On-going Communication: Regular communication reassures members that the club is alive and well. Technology also provides a variety of options in place of face-to-face meetings to conduct business and keep in touch.
 - During the initial formation meeting establish a communication process, by phone, mail, fax, email, or website, and stick to it.
 - Officers and committees should establish their own communication process.
 - Email communication is increasing popular but like meetings need ground rules. For efficiency and to keep discussion focused consider the following:
 - For the Subject Box: Use the initials of the club followed by a dash and then identify the specific issue of the email note.

Subject: GTG – January Meeting Agenda

- During specific issue discussions highlight the complete content of each subject message and click “Reply All.”

A complete record of issue discussions facilitates on-going discussion without having to save multiple messages or having to refer back to previously saved messages. And, "Reply All" insures that all members of a discussion have the exact same information to work with.

- Limit each email note to one issue.
- Change the stated issue whenever a new issue is offered for consideration or discussion.
- Telecommunication is time and cost effective for small groups such as Boards and committees. To insure productive conference calls:
 - Provide call-in instructions one week in advance followed by a reminder two days in advance of the call.
 - Provide agendas by mail, fax or email at the same time that call-in instructions are provided.
 - The Board or committee chair or appointed facilitator must keep the call participants focused on the agenda.
 - Notes with clearly identified action items must be taken and provided to call participants as soon after the call as possible.
 - Limit calls to one hour.

3. The Agenda

- Limit meeting time to NO MORE than three hours! After three hours attention span and energy level drop.
- Note the time for each agenda topic and when the meeting will adjourn so that your agenda will also serve as a time guideline.
- Include the speakers name for each topic, verify that the speaker will attend and notify them of the time that is allotted for their topic.
- ALWAYS establish meeting rules. Meeting rules are essential to keep a meeting on track and civil. Consider the following:
 - One conversation at a time
 - Conduct side conversations outside of the meeting room
 - Cell phones off
 - Respect others points of view
 - Limit comments to pertinent information. No war stories.
 - No finger pointing or “blaming”
- If there is potential for contentious discussion consider adding the following:
 - Raise your hand to speak
 - No personal attacks
 - When recognized to speak, speaking time is limited to 2 minutes
- On the agenda include an action table for:
 - What action items have been assigned
 - To whom they have been assigned, and
 - When they need to be completed.
- Have adequate copies of the agenda to hand out to all participants.

4. Meeting Management

Management of the first meeting is critical; the impression attendees get from the first meeting and what they take away from it will determine whether or not they return for a second!

- Wear a watch. A room clock is also helpful.
- Use Roberts Rules of Order when necessary to keep a meeting orderly.
Use Roberts Rules of Order whenever a vote is necessary.
- Stick to the agenda topics and time!
- During any type of planning meeting, including the initial club development meeting, assign a participant other than the facilitator to record the meeting on flip charts or butcher paper. Post the sheets on the walls as the meeting progresses. These notes will help to insure that when agreement is required all know exactly what is being agreed on. And, when copied the flip chart information may serve as or back-up the minutes for the meeting. Meeting minutes are required for all incorporated organizations.
 - Necessary equipment:
 - Flip charts or butcher paper
 - LOTS of water-soluble marker pens (various colors are fun),
and
 - Masking tape.
- Use the Meeting Ground Rules to insure that all participants have an opportunity to speak and that no one individual dominates any particular discussion.

- Watch and listen to the participants! Attention, facial expressions and tone indicate where there is disagreement, frustration, lack of knowledge, or disinterest that needs to be addressed.
- Provide materials necessary for the meeting. At the initial meeting this would include at least the following:
 - Sample by-laws
 - List of proposed officer positions
 - Proposed officer responsibilities
 - List of proposed committees
- Provide (or assign someone dependable to provide) refreshments at the beginning and throughout the meeting. Eating relaxes people and helps to create a more conducive atmosphere for working together.
- Include a fun activity such as a door prize, “club member of the month” award, two-for-one pot, etc.

5. Follow-up

- Provide meeting minutes to all participants. These may be a copy of the flip charts or the agenda with the following as bullet points under the appropriate topic:
 - A list of the comments, questions, or concerns
 - What, if any agreements were made
 - The action table (see Appendix a)
 - Date and location of next meeting
 - List of participants with contact information.
- Thank or send a letter of thanks to those who provided the meeting space, beverages and snacks, and any other donated meeting materials.

BY-LAWS AND INCORPORATION

By-laws are the rules of an organization explaining how it is organized and operates. By-laws are required for incorporation. Incorporation establishes an organization as a legal entity and protects the officers from being personally responsible for the debts or deeds of the organization.

By-laws are dynamic rules that may be revised as a club grows or as a clubs activities change. For incorporation an organization's by-laws must at least include the following:

1. Name of club
2. Home or office address for principal officer or principal business office where corporate records (including by-laws and minutes) will be held.
3. Information regarding Officers and Directors. (Caution: There may be residence, age and number requirements.)

Incorporation requirements for individual states may be obtained by:

1. Calling your states Secretary of State office;
2. Going to your states government website at: http://www.____.gov (*Insert the two-letter abbreviation for your state) and do a search for "Incorporation" or "articles of incorporation"; or
3. Going to the internet and doing a search for "incorporation".

Additional Resources:

- Your State's OHV-oriented associations and other clubs
- "AMA Incorporation Guidelines" (Appendix b-iii)
- "NOHVCC Application For Federal Tax-Exempt Status" (NOHVCC Library)

Use of the Sample By-laws: The following sample by-laws provide the format and information generally needed to meet incorporation and tax requirements. Recipients of these Club Guidelines are free to remove the inserted "NOTES" and "EXAMPLES" from the Sample By-laws and to use all or whatever is appropriate from the sample for their own club by-laws.

INCORPORATION

Simply stated, incorporation means that you as an individual member of the club cannot be held liable for the negligence of others in the club, should they be involved in an act that might result in a lawsuit being filed against the club and its members.

To obtain corporate status for your club, you will need to file the appropriate documents with the Secretary of State in your state and pay the filing fees. Usually, the documents are simply “Articles of Agreement” stating that the club is a voluntary corporation established for the purpose of furthering OHV recreation, with no capital stock.

If the club wishes to incorporate as a nonprofit organization they will need to follow the guidelines set forth in IRS Form 1023. Form 1023 includes instructions regarding necessary incorporation language such as, “with the demise of the club all remaining club funds will be donated to _____.” (Otherwise, it will go to the IRS for redistribution.)

General Benefits of Incorporation:

1. An incorporated club has limited liability. Members are protected from being personally responsible for the debts or deeds of the club;
2. An incorporated club has a separate legal existence;
3. An incorporated club can exercise most powers that are available to individual persons;
4. An incorporated club can own property, contract, mortgage, and sue in court;
5. An incorporated club can be sued as an entity but only to the extent of its limited liability;
6. An incorporated club can have its interests easily transferred; and
7. An incorporated club continues its existence regardless of what happens to individual members.

AMERICAN MOTORCYCLIST ASSOCIATION

Political and Legislative Guidelines for AMA Community Councils and Motorcyclists Organizations

Influencing Legislation

According to the Internal Revenue Code, motorcyclists organizations may engage in activities designed to influence legislation, as long as the total sum of these activities do not reflect a "substantial part" of their overall activity in a given year.

Many organizations and clubs are 501(c)(3) organizations. While the IRS has not defined "substantial," court cases have applied percentage tests. Past rulings have held that expenditures of less than five percent of a 501(c)(3) organization's time and finances devoted toward activities intended to influence legislation were not "substantial," and, therefore, were permissible.

The IRS makes such rulings on a case-by-case basis. Both qualitative and quantitative factors are examined in such cases. Therefore, such percentage tests tend to be subjective and variable. It is recommended that you always seek legal counsel in planning activities designed to influence legislation. It is also advised that you keep records of the expenses incurred.

The IRS considers "legislation" to be any official act that makes public policy, including town/borough/township councils, county commissions and the legislative branches of state and federal governments. School boards are not included in this definition. The IRS defines "direct lobbying" as direct contact by an organization with members of a legislative body if the contact refers to specific legislation and reflects a view on such legislation. Though limited by the "substantial" test, such activity is also allowed.

"Grassroots lobbying" is far more common in motorcyclists' organizations and other non-profit organizations. Such activity is designed to influence legislation through the members of a community.

However, simply informing your members about the content or status of a legislative measure under consideration is not an attempt to influence legislation. In order for such communication to be considered a grassroots lobbying attempt, the IRS has determined that it must refer to a specific piece of legislation, reflect an opinion on that legislation and call the reader or listener to action.

"Grassroots lobbying" is allowed to the extent parameters allowed by the "substantial" limitation. Activities that do not involve all three components are merely considered "education" by the IRS and, therefore, have no restrictions at all. Note: There is an exception to this rule when it comes to mass media. Motorcyclists' organizations planning to use radio, television or newspaper campaigns within two weeks of a vote on specific, "highly publicized" legislation should seek legal counsel before proceeding.

Initiatives, Referendums, Ballot Questions and Propositions

Critical issues are increasingly being put to voters directly in the form of initiatives, referendums, ballot questions, and propositions. This is not political activity but the making of law by popular vote. Thus, motorcyclists may speak freely about initiatives, referendums, ballot questions and propositions, including outright endorsement or opposition. Magazine/newsletter inserts, fact sheets and statements from the floor are also allowed. This activity is considered "direct lobbying," since the people you are attempting to influence - the voters - are the "lawmakers" in this case. However, the "substantial" restraint still applies.

Example 1

A club tells its members about specific recreation legislation moving through the state legislature, announces its opposition and urges the members to contact their state representatives and request that the bill be defeated. This is a permissible "grassroots lobbying" activity.

Example 2

The same club tells its members about specific recreation legislation moving through the state legislature and announces its opposition without urging them to contact their state representatives. This is merely educational activity; it may be done without limit.

Example 3

A club president speaks about a specific state initiative during a meeting, announces his opposition and urges members to vote against it in the general election. This is permissible "direct lobbying" activity. As with grassroots lobbying, it may be done until all such activities for the year exceed the "substantial" limit.

Political Activity and Elections

According to the Internal Revenue Code, a 501(c)(3) organization may "not participate or intervene in (directly or indirectly, including the publishing and distribution of statements) any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office." However, there are many ways for motorcyclists to affect positive change in elections by ensuring that organization members have all of the information necessary to fulfill their civic responsibilities.

What an Organization May Do

- Conduct non-partisan voter registration/ education drives. Contact your local county clerk's office for information on registering voters at motorcycle events in your area. Host candidate forums where all are invited and treated impartially.
- Rent a club mailing list (at market value) to a candidate.

- Publish an ad in the club newsletter for all who request, as long as the ad is purchased at the regular rate for all such ads.
- Publish neutral news stories on political candidates, including information regarding public endorsements candidates have received from a variety of organizations.
- Invite a political candidate to attend a meeting or event. Remember that other candidates, regardless of party affiliation, must also be given the same opportunity should they request it and club representative, acting in an official capacity, may endorse or solicit funds for any candidate.

What an Organization May Not Do

- Endorse a political candidate.
- Contribute to political candidates or political action committees.
- Make an outright donation of a mailing list to a political candidate.
- Participate in fund-raising projects for political action committees.
- Sell a political ad at a discount rate if no other advertisers are offered discounts.
- Distribute candidate political statements. Note: this is not the same as a voter's guide-see below.
- Pay to attend a caucus for a state or national political convention.
- Make in-kind or independent expenditures in favor of or against candidates.

Voter's Guides

During election years, many motorcyclists' organizations make voter's guides available to their members. This is a permissible educational activity as long as the guides do not reflect a partiality which could be misunderstood as an endorsement of a particular party or candidate. The following guidelines will help ensure that your guide is indeed "neutral."

- Don't use a "comments" section in your voter's guide to clarify an incumbent's voting record. Doing so would indicate a bias. Let the candidate's voting record speak for itself.
- Do not use percentage or plus or minus ratings of candidates to indicate whether a candidate voted "pro-access" or "anti-access." Do not use the ratings of other organizations. Political action committees may do this, but 501(c)(3) organizations cannot.
- Do not skew the voting record of a candidate by having YES votes mean they voted for a pro-access position or NO votes meaning they voted against the access.
- Keep the language neutral. Do not use such terms as "pro-access," "anti-access" or "green" to describe candidates seeking office. Do not encourage your readers to vote for pro-access candidates, but encourage them to be involved. Everyone should be able to use your voter's guide to find candidates they like.
- If candidates refuse to respond to your questionnaire, you may mention it in your guide and include their phone numbers so voters can ask them why they refused.

- Do not mention any political action committee in the guide.
- You are not required by law to publicize the voting records or ideologies of third party candidates unless there is a good chance the third party candidate is viable or in a position to win the election. Note: Be very careful on this one and consult a qualified attorney before attempting this.
- Questions asked of candidates must deal with a wide range of issues not just access, helmet choice and noise regulation stance. Be sure to include taxation, health care, foreign policy, the national defense and other topics of interest to provide a well-rounded view of the candidates.

A Special Note to the Reader

This publication is not meant to be a comprehensive and detailed analysis of campaign finance laws and IRS tax status determination factors. It is simply meant to be a handy reference to help keep your motorcyclists' organization, and the AMA, out of trouble and on our motorcycles.

- Does the name honestly represent the values of all club members?
- Does the name promote responsible OHV recreation?

A mission statement states what an organization does. A mission statement is typically general and brief.

Purpose statements specifically state what an organization does, what it supports, and what it would like others, including perspective new members, to be aware of.

A mission statement is necessary for incorporation. Mission and purpose statements that include promotion of responsible behavior and volunteer, charity, and youth programs are expected in most grant applications. And the Mission and purpose statements are part of your clubs public image.

BASIC PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Basic parliamentary procedure helps to insure efficient, orderly meetings conducted in a consistent and accepted professional manner. An excellent and easy to use reference book is the paperback, Robert's Rules of Order.

CALLING A MEETING TO ORDER:

The presiding officer (generally the President/Chairperson) stands, taps on the table with gavel or pencil for the group's attention and says, "The meeting will please come to order."

READING AND APPROVING MINUTES:

The presiding officer says "The secretary will read the minutes of the last meeting," and after they are read, "Are there any corrections?" The officer pauses, then continues, "If not, the minutes stand approved as read."

Every member of an organization is responsible for seeing that its records are correct. If anything has been omitted from the minutes or is not accurately reported, the member who notices it should call attention to it and suggest a correction during the pause before the presiding officer announces that the minutes are approved. If there are no objections to the corrections, the secretary makes the changes. When there is a difference of opinion as to what should have been said, the presiding officer will entertain a motion to amend the minutes.

When this has been disposed of, the officer says, "Are there any further corrections? If not, the minutes stand approved as corrected."

GETTING THE FLOOR:

In formal meetings when you wish to make or discuss a motion, ask a question or give information related to the subject under discussion, rise and address the chair by saying, "Madam," or "Mr. President," or by other special title, if appropriate. Never try to obtain the floor when someone else is speaking unless the speaker is out of order or there is an emergency. In small informal groups, you need not rise to address the chair or use a formal title.

If members are not well acquainted, the recognized speaker should give their name and some identifying remark. The correct form is "Mr./Madame President, I am John/Jane Doe with the New Jersey State OHV Recreation Association." The chair then repeats the name. This recognition gives permission to the speaker to speak.

EIGHT STEPS IN MAKING AND CARRYING A MOTION:

1. The member addresses the Chair.
2. The chair recognizes the member.
3. The member makes the motion. After obtaining the floor the member says, 'I move that...

Motions should be made in the affirmative to avoid the confusion that comes from a negative vote on a negative motion. For instance, you should say, 'I move that the club does give a picnic,' not, 'I move that the club does not give a picnic.'

4. The motion is seconded. All ordinary motions must be seconded. This is to prove that at least two persons want the subject discussed. It is not necessary to be recognized by the chair. In small groups you may say simply, "I second the motion." In large meetings it is proper to rise and say, "Mr./Madame President, I second the motion."

If there is no second, the chair may say, "Is there a second?" If no one else thinks the subject should be discussed and there is no second, the chair says, "The motion is lost for lack of a second."

5. The chair restates the motion, that is, repeats it clearly so everyone will understand exactly what is proposed.
6. The chair calls for discussion.

This step should never be omitted. The members should have an opportunity to express opinions or to ask questions that may make the motion clear.

7. The chair puts the motion to vote.

When all members who wish to do so have spoken or when the chair believes that all sides of the question have been discussed he/she says, "Are you ready for the question?" If no one speaks the chair puts the motion to vote. Both affirmative and negative votes must be taken. The chair says, "All in favor of the motion, which is _____, say aye."

After the "aye" vote, the chair says, "All opposed say no." If it is not clear on which side the majority voted, the chair may call for a vote by the raising of hands or standing.

8. The chair announces the results. After the vote is taken, the chair must announce the results. The usual form is, "The ayes have it and the motion is carried." or "The no's have it and the motion is lost."

SUBSIDIARY MOTIONS

Sometimes in order to dispose of a main motion, it is necessary to make a subsidiary or secondary motion. These motions must be voted on before the main motion can be discussed further. The most common motions of this class are to amend, to refer to a committee and to table.

To Amend:

A motion may be amended in four ways: (1) by striking out, (2) by adding, (3) by striking and adding, (4) by substitution. For instance, a member may move that the club sponsor a volunteer recognition dinner for all volunteers who have served five years or longer. Someone else may say, "I move to amend by adding the volunteers who have served three years." Discuss only the amendment until it is acted on. If it carries, the chair says, "The ayes have it and the amendment is carried. The motion now is that the club gives a recognition dinner for all volunteers who have served three years or longer."

To Refer to a Committee:

Sometimes a motion is made which has the general approval of the group but which needs to be studied more carefully than it can be in an open meeting, or perhaps more information is needed before a final decision can be made. In such cases someone should move that the question be referred to a committee. If the business is related to the activities of any standing committee, it should be turned over to that committee.

If a special committee is to be appointed, the motion should state how many members it should have and how it should be appointed; for example, "I move that the question be referred to a committee of three to be appointed by the chair."

To Table:

Sometimes it seems wise to lay aside temporarily some item of business that is before the group. The correct form is, "I move to table." This motion must be seconded. It may not be debated or amended. The chair must put the motion to table as soon as it is seconded.

At any time during the session at which a question was tabled or during the following session, the motion to take it from the table may be made. This motion may be carried by a vote of one-third plus one. If a motion is not taken from the table at the session following the one at which it was tabled, it is considered killed.

INCIDENTAL MOTIONS

Some motions are incidental to the business being transacted. They are in order whenever they are needed. The ones most commonly used are to reconsider or rescind an action previously taken and to adjourn.

To Reconsider:

A member who votes on the prevailing side and then thinks that an action has been taken too hastily may move to reconsider. This motion can be made only in the session at which the original motion was made or on the next day. Since councils do not meet on two consecutive days, the motion is most useful in conventions.

To Rescind:

Any action taken by an organization may be rescinded at any time provided nothing has been done about it that cannot be undone. If a bill has been paid or a contract made or if the person involved in the action has been informed of it, the motion cannot be rescinded. The motion requires a two-thirds vote.

To Adjourn:

The correct form is "I move to adjourn." The motion is seconded and voted on but is not discussed. It is discourteous to begin talking or to rise until the chair has declared the meeting adjourned. The usual form is "the motion carried and the meeting is adjourned."
